Wawoto Kacel Cooperative Society

The Comboni Samaritans of Gulu, who you can read about on page 2, have done much to assist people affected by HIV/AIDS. In 1997 they helped a group of HIV positive women to form the Wawoto Kacel Cooperative Society – which means “Walking together” in the local language. It is a crafts cooperative which produces a range of items which are sold for the women to make some much needed money.

This photo shows a group of women making pretty boxes and ornaments out of dried banana leaves.

They are selling some really nice things and here is a small selection.

Here is one of the boxes. Each box contains 12 Christmas story ornaments. £20 for a boxed set.

Colourful necklaces. £6 each.

Wide bracelet. £4.

Embroidered table cloth, 8' by 4'. £15.

A card beautifully decorated using tree bark. £1 (including envelope).

See the other side of the flap to find out how you can buy these items.

Roll up, roll up!

Here is Marijn on a very hot day at the Summer Fair of Our Lady of Grace church near our office in Chiswick where she took a stall to sell Wawoto Kacel products.

If you have access to the internet you can go to our website, www.irt.org.uk, where you can see the whole range and place your order.

If you don't have access to the internet, put your name and address on the coupon below, send it back to us in the enclosed envelope and we will send you a printed list.

Once again we will be selling IRT Christmas cards this year and details with order forms will be going out with our next appeal in early October. If you would like details sooner than that, there is also a box to tick on the coupon.

Please send me a printed list and order form for the jewellery, cards and gifts

Please send me details of the IRT Christmas cards
